Card Clarifications

New templating convention: To save space, targeting phrases such as Target one of your Samurai or Bow one of your target Shugenja have been simplified to Target your Samurai or Bow your target Shugenja. This has no implication for the game mechanics.

New wording convention: Facing [a Personality] in a duel refers to the state of being in a duel against another Personality.

The Third Yasuki War: The face-up refilling does not restrict any other effects that let players refill more than one province face-up (such as The Spider's Lair stronghold).

Hida Manabu: Gains multiple Force bonuses for multiple cards that are destroyed simultaneously.

Bayushi Chikayo: Her ability has two independent movement effects; one happens even if the other is prevented.

Shinjo T'sao: His ability not only restricts the Personality's assignment to Infantry Maneuvers, but also requires the Defender to assign the Personality if possible.

Seized Assets: Does not allow attachment of a non-attachment card.

Brink of Exhaustion: Only the ability to overcome a once per turn restriction; not once per battle, once per game, etc.

Removing the Advantage: A negated Terrain card still stays in play.

Black Silk Castle: If the removal of the first Personality is prevented, the destruction effect still goes ahead.
